James F. DeSocio, President & CEO of Intellinetics, stated, "As we've mentioned in prior communications, we are investing in sales and marketing to scale our business as we transform into a predominantly SaaS-driven company. A key pillar of this strategy was supported by the successful launch of the initial purchase order feature set for our key strategic Payables Automation partner. Within that ecosystem, we increased live reference accounts another 50% in the quarter. Our strategy is to partner with niche ERP providers, and we are just beginning to penetrate the customer base of those new partner markets. Our investments to accelerate revenues include, as an example, recently hiring a Sales Engineer and Senior Solutions Consultant, both with deep experience in Payables Automation in the markets we serve. In addition, to develop and direct our growing sales team, we brought on board a new VP of Sales. We've also made investments in IT infrastructure, which bring many benefits, including increased customer trust and loyalty, improved cybersecurity risk mitigation, enhanced competitive advantage, and scalability.

"Professional services is a project-based business that experiences ebbs and flows, particularly for document scanning and conversions," continued DeSocio. "We expect to renew our contract for scanning and related services with our largest customer, which would commence a new contract cycle next month. Orders have already picked up significantly, and earlier this quarter we achieved our biggest single order-intake week in years, from which work will be performed and recognized over the coming months, enabling us to resume scanning work at historical levels.

"Our professional services revenue streams are important to us and our cash flow generation, but it is our SAAS business that we can take to the next level. We believe penetration of accounts with strategic partners over the next many years is eminently achievable. As reference accounts grow and share the story of saving money, the sales cycle within each ecosystem will shorten and accelerate," DeSocio concluded.

Summary - 2025 First Quarter Results

Revenues for the three months ended March 31, 2025 were $4,247,345, a decrease of 5.8%, as compared with $4,507,084 for the same period in 2024. This net decrease was driven by a 13.2% decrease in professional services revenues more than offsetting SaaS revenue growth of 9.8%.

Total operating expenses increased 21.1% to $3,553,759, compared to $2,934,124, driven by our initiatives in sales and marketing to grow the business, as well as corresponding initiatives in general and administrative costs to enhance our IT and control environment as part of SOC2 and preparing the organization for growth at scale. Share-based compensation, a notable change factor last year, was relatively flat from 2024 to 2025. Loss from operations was $684,559 compared to loss from operations of $34,480 in the first quarter last year.

Intellinetics reported a net loss of $727,565 compared to net loss of $174,714 for the same period in 2024. Basic and diluted net loss per share for the three months ended March 31, 2025 was $(0.17), compared to net loss per basic and diluted share of $(0.04) for the period ended March 31, 2024. Adjusted EBITDA was $76,589 compared to $673,362 in 2024.

2025 Outlook

Based on management's current plans and assumptions, the Company expects that it will grow revenues on a year-over-year basis for the fiscal year 2025, particularly growing SAAS revenues, and maintaining positive Adjusted EBITDA. The Company expects its 2025 Adjusted EBITDA to be reduced by more than half compared to fiscal year 2024, due to increased investments in sales and marketing intended to provide returns on those investments in late 2025 and beyond.

Non-GAAP Financial Measures

Intellinetics uses non-GAAP Adjusted EBITDA as supplemental measures of our performance that are not required by, or presented in accordance with, accounting principles generally accepted in the United States (GAAP). A non-GAAP financial measure is a numerical measure of a company's financial performance that excludes or includes amounts so as to be different from the most directly comparable measure calculated and presented in accordance with GAAP in the statement of income, balance sheet or statement of cash flows of a company.

Adjusted EBITDA: Adjusted EBITDA is not a measurement of financial performance under GAAP and should not be considered as an alternative to net income, operating income, or any other performance measure derived in accordance with GAAP, or as an alternative to cash flow from operating activities or a measure of our liquidity. Intellinetics urges investors to review the reconciliation of non-GAAP Adjusted EBITDA to the comparable GAAP Net Income, which is included in this press release, and not to rely on any single financial measure to evaluate Intellinetics' financial performance.

We believe that Adjusted EBITDA is a useful performance measure and is used by us to facilitate a comparison of our operating performance on a consistent basis from period-to-period and to provide for a more complete understanding of factors and trends affecting our business than measures under GAAP can provide alone. We define "Adjusted EBITDA" as earnings before interest expense, any income taxes, depreciation and amortization expense, share-based compensation, note conversion and note or equity offer warrant or stock expense, gain or loss on debt extinguishment, change in fair value of contingent consideration, and transaction costs.

Total Contract Value: Estimated total future revenues from contracts signed during the period. This refers to contracts or projects that have been awarded by our customers, and it presumes the provision of all software, subscription services, and/or professional services, with no termination of any awarded contracts. There can be no guarantee that all work will be completed during any fiscal period, or that the contracts will not be terminated before all the estimated future revenues are earned, received, and/or recognized. Total Contract Value is a performance measure that the Company believes provides useful information to its management and investors as it allows the Company to better track the Company's current sales performance, without any adjustment to exclude revenues that will not be earned, received, or recognized until future periods. Total Contract Value new sales in all our revenue categories, including SaaS, perpetual software licenses, maintenance, storage and retrieval, and professional services, to new or existing customers. It excludes renewals (and price increases on renewals if any). Total Contract Value is not a substitute for total revenue. There is no GAAP measure that is comparable to Total Contract Value, so the Company has not reconciled the Total Contract Value to any GAAP measure.
